SCHEDULE 71: Statement of Remeasurement Gains and Losses

General Information

According to PS 1201 Financial Statement Presentation, municipal financial statements may include a statement of remeasurement gains and losses (this statement is only prepared when the municipality has unrealized gains or losses to report).

Remeasurement gains and losses result from changes in the value of financial assets and liabilities arising from:

1. Remeasurement of financial assets to fair value. Public sector accounting standards state that the value of specific financial assets and liabilities should be updated at the financial statement reporting date using current fair value. This includes derivatives and equity instruments. The annual change in the fair value of these assets and liabilities should be reported in the FIR on the statement of remeasurement gains and losses until the assets are sold or the liabilities are paid.
2. Foreign currency exchange rate fluctuations. All financial assets or liabilities held in foreign currency should be converted to Canadian dollars at the financial statement reporting date. The annual fluctuations in exchange rates are reported in the FIR in the statement of remeasurement gains or losses.

Once the asset is sold or liability paid, unrealized gains or losses become recognized, and the realized gain or loss is reallocated from the accumulated remeasurement gains and losses to the statement of operations.
